

SOPHISTICATED LIVING

{Louisville's Finest}

slmag.net

May/June 2021
five dollars

Garden Variety

Written by Elliott Greene

For many of us, summer vacations—at least the most far-flung ones—will have to wait. Instead of pointlessly pining for what could have been, we tasked Ben Palmer-Ball, owner of Digs Home & Garden, to create mood boards that capture the je ne sais quoi found at a few of our favorite destinations—both stateside and abroad—at home. All products are available from DIGS (3905 Chenoweth Square in Louisville; digshomeandgarden.com; 502.893.3447).

Clockwise from top left: Poufs and cushion covers from Le Jacquard Français (le-jacquard-francais.com) Louvre Museum (maisonsarahlavoine.com/en/eshop/collection-tuileries). Velvet cushions and textiles from the Tuileries collection by Collection Louvre + Masion Sarah Lavoine (maisonsarahlavoine.com/en). Scarf from the Tuileries collection by Collection Louvre + Masion Sarah Lavoine (maisonsarahlavoine.com/en). VIADURINI chairs (viadurinimilano.com). Brown Jordan outdoor kitchen in Baltic (brownjordanoutdoorkitchens.com).

About Ben Palmer-Ball: Ben founded Digs more than 20 years ago as a resource for people who are passionate about their personal outdoor environment but offering products that stand the test of time. Digs was the first establishment in Louisville to recognize the trend toward more expansive outdoor living spaces and has evolved and grown in response to clients' wants and needs. "Digs reflects our everyday reality—people live on budgets and collect their furniture and décor over time," explained Ben. With their diverse inventory, as reflected in this feature, Digs' customers can spend years mixing and matching with ease.

